A community health nurse is planning to implement an outreach program for a community group. Which criteria should the nurse clarify about the program when examining sources for funding?

a. focuses on multiple health problems and concerns
b. identifies populations and individuals in need of healthcare services
c. evaluates variations in health services and health status among populations
d. offers healthcare services to community members in local factories, schools, and churches.

The home health nurse A Community Outreach Program. by Fabrizia Faustinella M.D. Ph.D., Raye Hurwitz M.D. M.P.H. Buy the eBook.Â Books related to Health Education for Young Adults. Skip this list. Ratings and Book Reviews. See more of Youth and Community Outreach Program at Weatherhead School of Management on Facebook. Log In. or. Create New Account. See more of Youth and Community Outreach Program at Weatherhead School of Management on Facebook. Log In. Forgotten account?Â Below are links to activities for youth and resources for volunteers. Check back frequently for additional links and program updates! Announcements! Frequent Community Outreach for Students in Education. WashU volunteer organizations. Campus Y Programs. Campus Y offers multiple opportunities for education, mentorship, and advocacy. City Faces. City Faces is a program run by WashU students that works with children, teenagers, and young adults living in the Clinton-Bea body public housing neighborhood in St. Louis. Cornerstone. Cornerstone services are designed to mentor students, to help them develop the life-long skill of â€œlearning how to learn.â€ to facilitate their ability to excel in their coursework, and to stimulate their independent thinking. Our outreach programs concentrate on educating and empowering local communities to make healthy lifestyle choices. We continually pilot and implement community service programs following National Protocols.Â Health and Wellness Program through Obesity Prevention involves disseminating information regarding healthy eating and physical activity to the community, as well as encouraging healthy lifestyle modification and weight loss for adults if appropriate. Healthy People Health Fairs are consistent with the U.S. Surgeon General's call to action for the 21st century, and in collaboration with other community organizations as SNMA conducts annual health fairs across the nation.