The next days Jesus spent time teaching about everything from having faith, heaven, the greatest commandment, and giving to speaking right to the sinful hearts of the teachers of the law and the Pharisees. And it all came down to their hearts! No matter how they looked on the outside, their hearts would prove either if you are the Son of God, tell these stones to become bread - Matthew 4:2-3. The was another name for the devil, or Satan. Satan tried to place doubt in the mind of Jesus with the words if you are the Son of God. Teacher: Show a stone and a loaf of bread. Say: The book of Luke tells us that Satan tried to tempt Jesus throughout His forty days in the wilderness (Luke 4:2). Satan knew that Jesus had gone without food for forty days. Obviously, Satan knew that Jesus was very hungry. After Jesus finishes washing their feet, he puts his outer garment back on and returns to his place, asking. Do you understand what I have done for you? (v. 12). They will not completely understand until they have seen the cross (v. 7), but they can at least grasp his act as an example of humility. Jesus affirms that this is indeed his identity. The humility he is exemplifying is not a false humility. Jesus’ understanding of the characteristics of a teacher and a lord (or the Lord) are quite different from those of the disciples and their culture. While they are reeling from this embarrassing event, Jesus spells out the implications for their own lives of what he has done: Now that I, your Lord and Teacher, have washed your feet, you also should wash one another’s feet. Two days later, while recovering from his illness, Brigham Young led several members of the Quorun of the Twelve Apostles and others on an exploring expedition. William Clayton recorded, About three-quarters of a mile north of the camp, we arrived on a beautiful table of land, level and nicely sloping to the west. Forty acres (16 ha) were selected for the temple, and it was decided that the city should be laid out perfectly square North & South, east & west with the temple being the center spot.
