REFERENCES /BIBLIOGRAPHY

1. Family Law by I. A. Saiyed – Published by Himalaya Publishers – Reprint in 2015
2. Outlines of Mohammadan Law by Asaf A Fyzee – Published by Oxford University Press – 3rd Edition – 1964
5. Several High Courts and Supreme Court Rulings
6. Various and several Newspapers Articles
7. Wikimedia, Wikipedia – internet cites

I. A. Saiyed
Ph. D (LAW) Candidate
Couples without children divorce more often than couples that have at least one child, according to researchers, despite numerous studies that marital happiness nosedives in the first year or two after the birth of a child and sometimes never quite recoups. The terms childless and childfree carry affective and in some cases, political connotations. Childless refers to people who have no children due to biological problems or genetics, waiting too long to have a child, a failed relationship, an illness preventing conception, unsuccessful fertility treatments, not finding a suitable partner. The issue of child marriage among Muslims in Kerala was addressed by a circular issued on 14 June 2013 by the social-welfare department of the Indian Union Muslim League (part of Kerala’s ruling United Democratic Front (UDF)). The circular instructs marriage registrars to register Muslim marriages even if the parties have not attained the age fixed by the Child Marriage Act. Political parties and Muslim women's organisations have said that this would encourage child marriages. Following an amendment Divorce rarely occurs without immense emotional, social, and financial upheaval. Most people underestimate the alienation, bitterness, disruption, and frustration between a divorcing couple, and among their children, friends, and relatives. Some never adjust to the resulting emotional consequences. Perhaps most tragic of all is that more than 60 percent of all divorces involve children under eighteen years of age. (Harry Stack Sullivan, Concepts of Modern Psychiatry, 2d ed. New York: W. W. Norton and Co., 1961, p. 42.) A strong, shared conviction that there is something eternally precious about a marriage relationship builds faith to resist evil. Les Daudi Bohras forment une communauté commercante originaire du Gujarat (Nord Ouest de l'Inde). Depuis la fin du XIXe siècle, cette communauté tend à se disperser géographiquement en suivant des opportunités de commerce, en Inde comme en-dehors (Afrique de l'Est, Iles de l'Océan Indien et plus récemment EUA, Moyen Orient). Nous analyserons comment l'identité communautaire, favorable à un réseau d'échanges préférentiel, a été renforcée afin de maintenir une culture particulière. Every Muslim, be of any school, believes in Tawhid, Nubuwah and in the Qur’an. These cardinal principles should be the unifying points for the people of the Ummah and not their minor individual differences. Ulama as Su have always explained the concept of unity wrongly. So, what year of marriage is divorce most common? It is said that marital satisfaction increases as the couple moves towards their 10th anniversary. If you think you know why people get divorced or how many marriages end in divorce, you might not be wrong, but there are certain reasons to get a divorce that you could never have guessed. What causes divorce in marriage? Infidelity, lack of communication, financial troubles, and sparing sex and intimacy sessions are some of the common reasons for divorce. When one partner feels that they take on more responsibility in the marriage, it can alter their view of the other person and lead to resentment. Resentment often snowballs to become one of the reasons for divorce. It is a leading cause of divorce.